

HORARY INQUIRY

"Should I seek a part time job while Aeonic Arts is getting started?"

✓ DUAL-SOURCE EPHEMERIS VERIFIED (SWISS EPHEMERIS & NASA JPL HORIZONS)

RADICALITY STATUS

Unradical / Strictures Present: Ascendant is early (1.7° in sign) — the matter may be too new; the chart cannot speak clearly yet. Proceed with judgment using appropriate classical caution.

TRADITIONAL HORARY JUDGMENT & SYNTHESIS

THE VERDICT

WAIT

COSMIC SYNTHESIS (WHY THIS ANSWER)

The chart is telling you something important before it even answers your question: the situation is simply too new. The Ascendant sits at barely 2 degrees of its sign, which in horary astrology is a signal that the matter hasn't fully formed yet — you're asking before the circumstances have had enough time to reveal themselves clearly. This doesn't mean the question is wrong or that you're wrong to be thinking about it. It means the ground is still shifting under your feet, and a firm answer isn't available yet because the situation itself isn't firm yet.

What the chart does show is worth noting. Saturn, representing the constraints and pressures of your current reality, is strong and operating at full power — it's telling you that the financial and practical weight of getting Aeonic Arts off the ground is real, not imagined. You are genuinely under pressure. At the same time, your own significator — the Sun — is also strong and in a place of natural confidence. You have the energy and capacity to handle more than you might fear. The caution is that Mercury, which governs practical work and the details of a part-time job, is tucked away in a hidden part of the chart, suggesting that the right opportunity or arrangement isn't visible or ready to be acted on just yet.

Right now, this feels urgent because the financial reality is real. But the chart is asking you to give yourself a little more time — not to avoid the decision, but to let the picture clarify. In a few weeks, both your business and your options may look different, and the choice you make then will be better-informed and better-timed.

PERFECTION & TIMING

Aspect Perfection: Sun is separating to Saturn by sextile (5.8°).

CAUTIONS & ACTIONS

Recommended Actions:

Give yourself a defined waiting window — set a date two to three weeks from now to revisit this question with fresh eyes, because the chart is explicitly signaling that things will be clearer soon.

Use this window to audit what Aeonic Arts actually needs financially — get specific numbers on how long you can sustain the business without additional income, so your eventual decision is grounded in real data rather than anxiety.

Research part-time options quietly in the background — not to commit, but to know what's available when the time comes, since Mercury's hidden position suggests the right opportunity hasn't fully surfaced yet.
